

NINTH COMPUTER SCIENCE AND ELECTRONIC ENGINEERING CONFERENCE, 27TH-29TH SEPTEMBER 2017, UNIVERSITY OF ESSEX

CALL FOR COMPETITIONS

The Computer science and Electronic Engineering Conference (CEEC) is an ideal occasion for researchers in the disciplines of Computer Science, Engineering, Mathematics and Finance to meet fellow researchers in their field. CEEC 2017 aims to create a forum in which the participants can work together, discuss, compare and debate different innovative ideas and solutions.

CEEC is aimed towards the current and recent works of researchers and provides them with the following opportunities:

- To formally record their work in a recognised published proceeding.
- To present, discuss and get feedback on their research with a friendly audience of other colleagues as well as experts in the field.
- To form new contacts, providing professional networking prospects that help integrating into the scientific community.

CEEC extends an invitations for competition proposals, which will be assessed on their relevance to the CEEC community. Contact the Competition Chair (rdgain at essex.ac.uk) to send your proposal.

You should include the following information when submitting your proposal:

- Title of the competition.
- Description of the competition (max. 300 words).
- Names of the organizers.
- Web address.
